

FEELING hungry

YOU EVER JUST FEEL LIKE?

FEELING is a place for me to stay creative during this covid 19 stay-home order. I started this project in hopes of preserving my sanity and exploring myself as an artist and designer.

This is my first go at it, and this month's theme is HUNGRY. This is just a word I used as a starting point for each piece. This is meant to be a fun and playful collection. My goal here isn't to redefine hunger or communicate some life-changing message, but if you like that much, great!

hope you like it :)

Hi, I'm HUNGRY!
Thought I should
introduce myself
before you dive in. I'll pop up anytime Eddi
has any additional information about this month's content. If you see me later, feel free to read what I have to say :)

DON'T EVEN LOOK AT THEM

I thought this guy looked pretty cool, but he doesn't really fit the rest of my stuff here. When I made this, I was in the mood to draw a monster and I wanted to see how else I could depict hunger, so I guess that's how I ended up making some satanic looking guy eating a skull. Also, I've used gouache for all painted elements in FEELING HUNGRY, but this is the only time I've thinned it down enough to get a watercolor effect. This guy definitely stands out from the rest of the collection, but I think he looks cool, so I added it anyways.

And to all concerned friends & family:

I am not a Satanist.

Just thought I should put that out there...

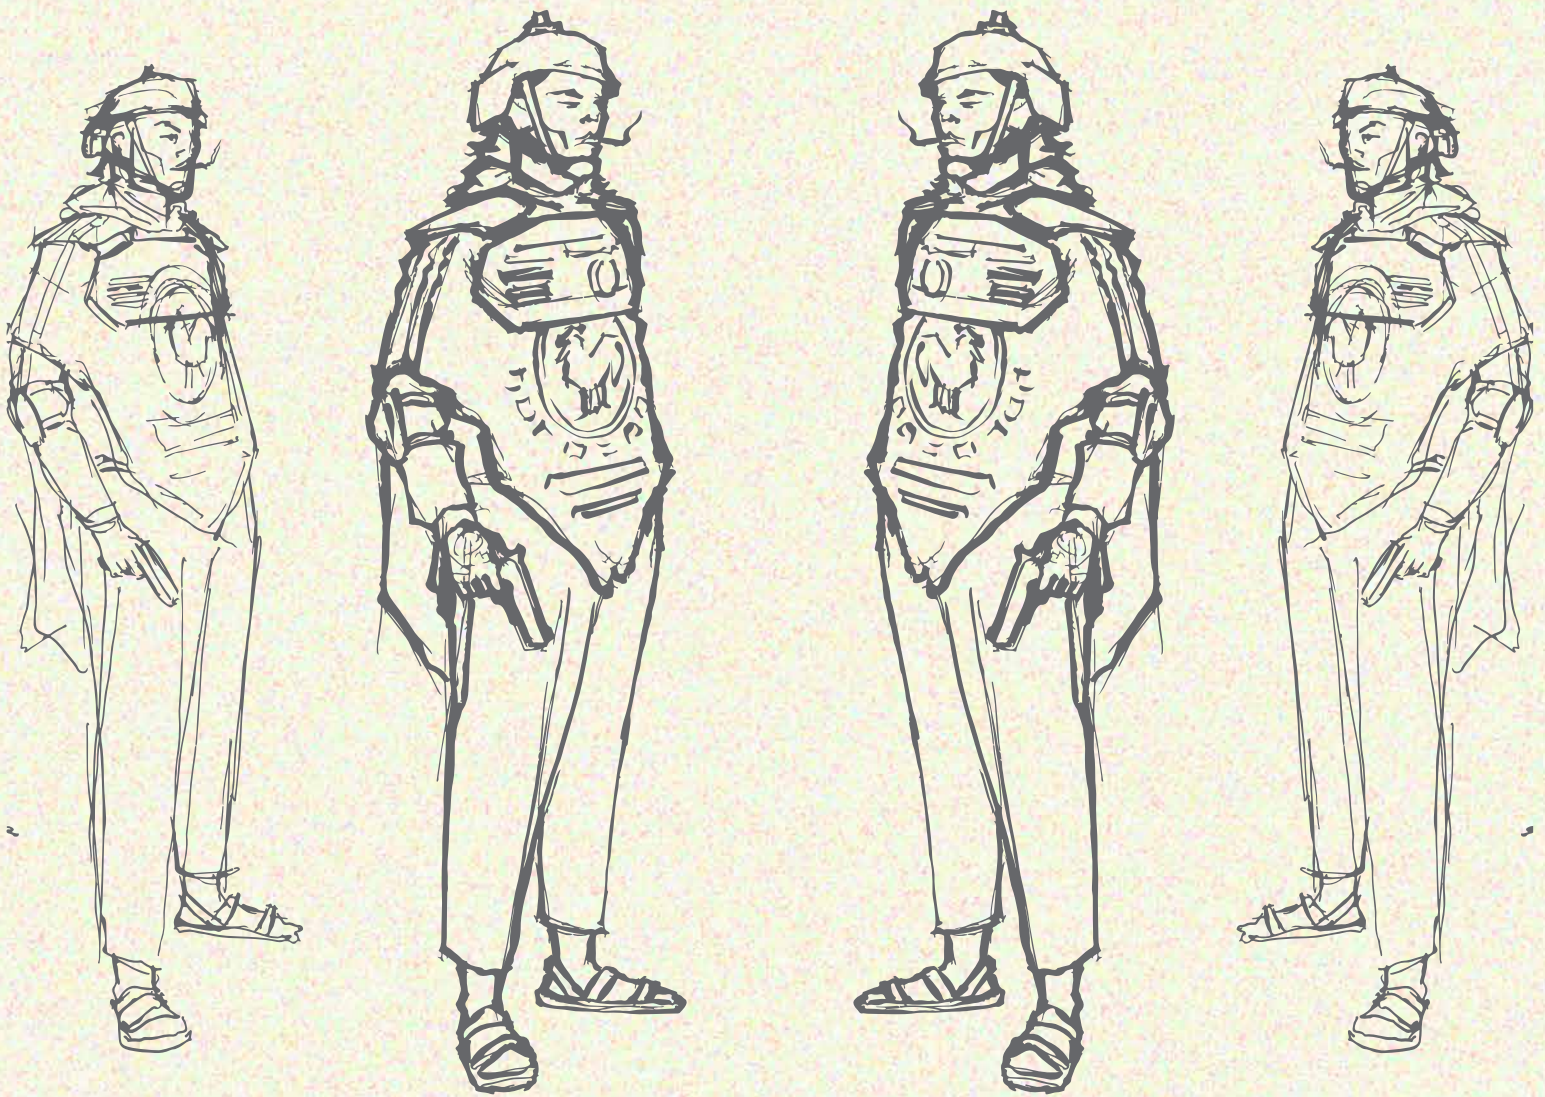

This is a fancy cake

I had the idea of creating a “food warrior”. It turned out to be a fun exercise in branding and character design. I wanted to do a “food warrior” series since this one turned out nicely, but I didn’t want to limit my subject matter so much on my first project. Maybe in the future I’ll do a more focused collection...
